Scriptural context – The Sermon on the Mount
 Ninety-nine per cent of the time when we are in a 'conversation' with someone, we spend more time thinking about what we will say next than we spend actually listening to what they're saying. Jesus calls us to be present and to be in the present. To be present to another person means to be fully attentive to them and more concerned about them and what they're saying (and not saying) than we are about ourselves. Next time you're talking with a friend, try asking open, honest questions and then really listening to what they say.
